Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: We discussed that Ginsberg does not explicitly teach parsing of code and agreed that it was possible to identify a file by something other than the file name--where "file name" is used in the traditional sense in the art. Mr. Wolf also had proposed amendments to overcome the 101 rejections in the last office action and the examiner agreed that the amendments were sufficient to overcome the 101 rejections (using claim 19 as an example). Later in the evening, Mr. Wolf called and left a message for the examiner that after speaking with the applicant, he will file a response which rather than focus on the parsing of the file, he will focus instead on identifying the codes in RAM and storage and comparison of the identified codes. Mr. Wolf's message stated that Ginsberg does a comparison of the checksum rather than the code. The examiner returned Mr. Wolf's call to acknowledge receipt of the voicemail message and the examiner stated that he believed that a checksum of the code represents the code, so a comparsion of the checksums is a comparison of the codes.
